When the enemy is close, it starts it attack target blueprint, which uses another blueprint that all the base enemies have, setting a target and doing a function that decreases the hp of said target in the health system with a boolean that tells the enemy to start or stop attacking. While also at the same time setting the rotation of the enemy to always look at the player.